NO NEARER THAN EVER.
THE NINTH STREET AND WASHINGTON AVENUE HOTEL STILL IN THE AIR.

Negotiations That Have Been Under Way and What There Is in Them.—The Relation to the Scheme of Eastern Theatrical Managers—Sales Accomplished by the Real Estate Men To-Day.

The H project of constructing a large hotel and theater building on the south line of Washington avenue, east of Ninth street, has been revived again, but notwithstanding current reports of very heavy losses there is no more reason to believe that the enterprise will be carried out than there was last summer, when an illustration of the proposed improvement at the southeast corner of Ninth was published in the POST-DISPATCH.

From that time up to the present it has been known that Wilbur F. Brinck, a real estate broker, has a ninety-nine-year lease of the 49x75 feet at the southeast corner of Washington and Ninth, and that he and other parties interested with him are trying to build a hotel on the site for Freeman Barnum. The scheme met with favor as the location is an excellent one for the purpose intended, but there was not sufficient ground to meet the approval of some of the persons who proposed to put money into the enterprise.

The adjoining property to the east, with a frontage of 81 feet on the avenue, extending through to St. Charles street, a depth of 150 feet, and then running west 75 feet in the form of the letter L, with a frontage of 72 feet on Ninth, but to St. Charles D. McLeure. The ground was much improved with the corner for the improvement negotiations for the possession of

with the owner. C. H. Bailey says terms were all made and the interest had agreed to a 5 per cent. The last when all the papers had been one of the parties backed square that was the last of it. The failure rotation of the market. Mr. Brinck is disappointed, however, did not come to discourage Mr. Brinck. He and Mr. McLeure have been in touch with him and only been delayed for a few days.

New men were found and much work to be done. At the time the papers had been to be built for Mr. Norton, but it has not been. As far as anyone can see, the new men have been in touch with the locality since it was cleared of old houses.

Originally the eighty-one feet on Washington belonged to Charles Clark and Mr. Moore, who sold the entire front years ago at between $700 and $800 a foot with the old buildings on it. The St. Charles and McLeure men have been in touch with him recently by purchase, and since Mr. McLeure has become the sole owner, having paid Mr. Clark $10,000 for his interest.

Now John H. Hinman and David Henderson, two well-known theatrical men from the East, are credited with having been in the city with the intention of making arrangements for the theater and the management of it.

To ascertain the facts pertaining to this matter, Charles H. Bailey, Mr. McLeure was asked. He said the negotiations had practically agreed to take the property upon stipulated terms under a ninety-nine-year lease, but no papers had been drawn or money passed.

Mr. Henderson was also seen by a POST-DISPATCH reporter. He said he had accomplished nothing, and that there was nothing to say about the matter.

SALES OF THE DAY.

Charles H. Hinman, the second-grade auctioneer, will conduct on Saturday next, going to overshadow their first great sale of the year.

Preparations are being made for a long way, and the demand for money was light and discounts were made at 6 to 8 per cent. New York Exchange 25 cents premium. Clearances, $20,000; balances, $715,402.

If you formerly paid $35 to $50 for a suit made to order come and see the Baltimore merchant tailor suits from $12.50 to $25. They beat anything you have ever seen.

Mayor M. M. Stephens of East St. Louis Returns From New York.

He Tells of the Confidence East ern Bondholders Have in His City.

The Mayor Outlines the Gigantic Improvements Now on Foot, and the Prosperity Which Is Inevitable—An Electric Railway Within Ninety Days After the Completion of the Viaduct—Manufacturing Possibilities From Fuel Gas—Possible Change of Location of the Relay Depot—News in East St. Louis and Belleville.

OFFICE OF THE POST-DISPATCH IN EAST ST. LOUIS.
16th street and St. Louis avenue, Mr. C. B. Carroll is the reporter for the Post-Dispatch in East St. Louis. He can be found or address at the above office.

That the people of East St. Louis are heart and soul in the work of reform and progress was evidenced to-day by the manner in which they received and extended congratulations to His Honor Mayor M. M. Stephens on his return from New York, where he had gone to effect a settlement on a judgment of $60,000 on the city's old 10 per cent bonds, with Hopkins, Liedel & Murphy. As was stated in the news in the Post-Dispatch, the Mayor's letter to New York, the object of his trip was to clean off about the last of the judgments against the city on account of its old debt. He was put to a great deal of trouble just before he left on account of an injunction suit brought to restrain him from making the exchange, but the matter was carried through very successfully, and there was all the greater reason for congratulations, and when a Post-Dispatch reporter called on him yesterday he was shaking hands with people who were calling constantly, and in the mean time signing checks for the payment of the monthly salaries of the city employees.

The opportunity was a splendid one for a study of the man as an official. For one who took the reins when he did, he is of exceeding modest appearance, and of few words, but evidently of considerable force. And at the same time he is just as evidently not a boomer. Anything of the spread-eagle style is at first sight entirely foreign to him. This was suggested to one of the citizens who had called on him and who also became a spectator.

"Well, Stephens," this gentleman said, "you've got to get on a solid basis."

"Yes, we are getting on a solid basis," said the Mayor, "and we are now, and we will be, healthier."

Just then an opportunity presented itself to get a few words with the reporter, and the reporter at once took advantage of it.

"Well," said the Mayor, in greeting, "we are getting on a solid basis, now, and we will be, healthier."

He then asked the reporter what he had been doing.

"I am doing something in the morning, then, next Monday, to attend the annual encampment of the Illinois Division, which will be held at that city.

HOW THE O. & M. WAS LEFT

THE REPRESENTATIVE OF A RATE-MAKING ROAD BADLY SCOOPED.

A. J. Lytle, General Western Passenger Agent of the Ohio & Mississippi Railway, Immersed in the Cheddar—The Turners' Convention Causes a Local Railroad Bow—Story of the Scabbie.

THE Ohio & Mississippi Railway has for years been dragging its coat-tails about the ring and flaying alive any road that dared step on them. In the fight for passenger business the road has been particularly aggressive, and has made itself a quantity to be feared by those who calculate the chances of a fight. It has, however, shown itself wonderfully resourceful. In spite of numerous rate advantages over all competitors for the largest lump of passenger business that St. Louis has had to offer this year the O. & M. has been cruelly worsted and its agent, Andrew J. Lytle, is seeking balm for his scooped self-esteem in plentiful delineation of rivals.

The story of what English newspaper men might call "the beat on Mr. Lytle" is as follows:

There is to be a national convention of Turners in Cincinnati to-morrow and next day. Over a thousand St. Louis Turners go to this convention, and it may be that the number will reach 2,000. In view of the generally expressed intention of members of the local versing to attend a meeting of the central organization was held several months ago to make arrangements. This central body does not societies in the city, and uniting them on certain occasions of this sort secure for the members advantages that would otherwise lie outside the grasp of the individuals. At the meeting a Committee on Railroads was appointed consisting of Arthur Bosch, Mazzini Krue and Francis P. Becker. These gentlemen immediately set to work to secure cheap transportation.

Now it so happens that the Ohio & Mississippi is the shortest line to Cincinnati. By that line the Turners travel from St. Louis in 260 miles. There are two other lines connecting St. Louis with the Bee Line (Indianapolis & St. Louis), the Bee Line (Cincinnati & Indianapolis), and the St. Louis & Indianapolis, on which they are taken to Indianapolis (202 miles) and transferred to the Bee Line (Cincinnati & Indianapolis), St. Louis to Cincinnati (110 miles), a total distance of 382 miles. The Vandals also take its passengers to Cincinnati, and the Bee Line transfers them to the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway, on which they are taken to Cincinnati (123 miles), a total distance of 365 miles.

The committee opened negotiations with A. J. Lytle of the O. & M. They talked of a rate of $7.20 for the trip, and were advised by Mr. Lytle, later on the Ohio & Mississippi, announced a rate of $7.20 for the round trip.

THE THREE ROADS

that have been mentioned—the O. & M., Bee Line and Vandals—are in a traffic association, and the general rate of $7.20, made the O. & M., being the shortest line, made the other roads restricted from making a lower rate, and the agreement, however, stated that rates without consideration of their increased mileage.

The Turners' Railroad Committee tried to induce the Bee Line to reduce its rates, but Mr. Lytle told them that it could not be done, and Mr. Shattuck, the General Passenger Agent, said that the road was a member of the association of which his road was a member prevented further concessions.

The negotiations were going on W. J. Snyder, General Western Agent of the Bee Line, convinced the committee that the company would not accept the rate of $7.20, and then secured from them a contract in which the Bee Line agreed to run special trains through from St. Louis to Cincinnati, and the special tickets on regular passenger trains, and if any other road gave a better rate than $7.20, the road would meet the cut, and would agree to give to the business to the Bee Line.

When this contract got to Mr. Lytle's ears he was so angry that he sent his men to work to secure the business at all hazards. His course has been high and mighty with the Turners' Railroad Committee, and he now tried to find a conceivable way to win them over to his road. The members of the committee are in a published card that they would not do this.

EVERY OFFERED MONEY

to rescind the contract with the Bee Line and give the O. & M. the business. The Lytle-McLyle made war on the committee. That drove the committee to the writing of the card mentioned. The card was a flat, flat sheet of man papers and is the last rap on Mr. Lytle's lifted crown. The card is signed by Messrs. Hough, Krue and Becker and is substantially as follows:

BIG EASTERN WINNERS.

MONEY MADE ON THE SUBURBAN BY NEW YORK BETTERS.

Jimmy McLaughlin to Train for Pierre Lorillard Next Season—College Crews in Training—Close of the St. Louis Running Meeting—Racing Elsewhere—Winston Outshoots Elliott—Base Ball and Other Sports.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 20.—It galloped in advance of the other eight starters in the Suburban Tuesday. Raceland is a dandy and more winning better than any previous winner of the race, as far as two miles go. Before the race had been installed an overwhelming favorite. Many betters had backed him at 3 to 1 to 5 to 1. The heaviest individual winner is Jake Shipley, the well-known bookmaker. Shipley was a staunch admirer of the great gelding and as soon as the weights were announced he began backing him. He played him in sums of $100 in the winter books in New York, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Chicago until he had $1,000 up on the comfortable odds of 20 to 1. He consequently cleared $20,000 on the race. Charley Hemmings, the Adonis of the betting ring, made heavy winter book, and owing to several heavy Raceland bets it was a losing sheet. He paid one bet of $5,000 to $20 laid in April and one of $2,000 to $1 laid in March. Some average bets were paid out in the time when Iroquois, Patrois, Aranda, Deau, D'Orsay, etc., were 4 to 1 to 5 to 1. Sam Emery was one of the happiest men in town last night. Sam won $2,000 on Raceland in the winter books and out at the track he stood to lose $10,000 on the race. Raceland, however, placed $12,000 to his credit. Sam landed a big fortune over Dry Monopole's Brooklyn Handicap in 1882. Mattle Corbett had a long head and two weeks ago placed $500 on Raceland at 4 to 1, winning $2,000. "Pop" Burton, the great Southern bookmaker, won $2,000 on Raceland.

John F. Delury placed $250 at the odds of 4 to 1 on Raceland right after he defeated Firenzat Jerome Park two weeks ago, and quit $1,000 to the good of the race. Under Sheriff Sexton also landed $600 on the great gelding and ex-Assemblyman Cavanagh won about $1,000. The bulk of the money lost was on The Bard, Hanover, Inspector B., Firenzat, Judge Ryan, Quilo, Galore and Prince Royal, all of them not starters. Of late, Tim Terrell, Cott, Bell B., Gorgo, Empre and Elkwood.
